

KARMA AND REINCARNATION

Algeo, John, Reincarnation Explored, 1987, 151 pages.

An elementary survey of the subject examining evidence for and against reincarnation obtained by spiritualistic practices, clairvoyance, regression and hypnosis, and spontaneous memories, considering also the theosophical viewpoint.

129 Alg RE

Analayo, Bhikkhu, Rebirth in Early Buddhism and Current Research, 2018, 279 pages.

Analayo, a German Buddhist monk, gives us a survey of teachings and ideas on Rebirth from the earliest Buddhist sources to contemporary debates on the topic. He considers some ancient debates on the Buddhist view of rebirth in early India and China and relates some intriguing modern stories of early childhood memories of past life experiences. It is not an argument for one point of view but a searching study of the thoughts on reincarnation from early times to the research and evidence of the present that allows the reader to make their own decision.

B181.4 Ana REB

Besant, Annie, Karma, 1905, 77 pages.

Exploring whether we live in a world of law and justice in spite of the apparent inequality in human existence, the author explains in simple language the difficult concept of nature's law balance, known in the East as Karma.

T B463 K (MINI)

Besant, Annie, Reincarnation, 1919, 72 pages.

Describes the rationale of the ancient teaching of reincarnation, its method, causes, evolutionary purpose, as well as what aspects of human beings reincarnate and what do not.

T B463 R (MINI)

Chapple, Christopher, Karma and Creativity, 1986, 144 p.

Based on traditional Indian scriptures, this book presents a perspective on karma not as fate but as a creative process through which human mind can shape the world, from upholding societal order to the attainment of spiritual liberation.

129.4 Cha KC

Cooper, Irving S., Reincarnation, a Hope of the World, 1979, 106 pages.

Written in a suitable way both for the casual reader as well as for the more serious student, the author explores the meaning, purpose and process of reincarnation, providing logical proofs in support of this theory.

T C785 R

Cranston, S. L., Reincarnation: A New Horizon in Science, Religion and Society, c1984, 385 pages.

A comprehensive study of this important area of human life, bringing together the work of scientists, theologians, social historians and psychologists, and addressing current social problems like wars, population explosion, suicide, and juvenile crime.

129.4 Cra RNHS

Doniger, Wendy, Karma and Rebirth in Classical Indian Traditions, c1980, 342 p.

A collection of essays forming a comprehensive study of the various meanings and philosophical implications of these often conflicting concepts in different Indian philosophies, including Hinduism, Buddhism and Jainism.

129.4 OFI KR

Hanson, Virginia, Karma, Rhythmic Return to Harmony, 1990, 291 p.

A collection of articles written by psychologists, scientists, sociologists, astrologers scholars in Christianity, Buddhism, Judaism and Hinduism, as well as students of Theosophy.

T H198 KR

Head, Joseph, Reincarnation: An East-West Anthology, 1961, 341 pages.

Showing that this concept is not incompatible with western thinking and belief, the present book offers a compilation of quotations from world's religions and from over 400 eminent philosophers, theologians, writers, and scientists of every period of western culture.

129.4 Hea REWA

Hodson, Geoffrey, The Miracle of Birth: A Clairvoyant Study of a Human Embryo, c1981, 98 pages.

From the fourth month to the time of birth, the author studied clairvoyantly the changes in a fetus, describing in vivid detail the development of the mind, emotions, and the physical body of the growing infant.

T H669 MB

Howe, Quincy, Reincarnation for the Christian, [1987], 112 pages.

Examines the evolution of Christian thought over the centuries, pinpointing the historical episode during which the concept of reincarnation was outlawed by the Christian hierarchy. The author also cites chapter and verse from the Bible supporting reincarnation.

236.2 How RC

Jinarajadasa, C., How we Remember our Past Lives, 1973, 72 pages.

In each new incarnation a new brain is developed with nothing of the old memories left. We are, however, the result of our past, and through self-knowledge we can learn much about our past experiences and how to deal with the present.

T J 564 HWR 1973

Judge, William Q., Karma, [1975?], 47 pages.

A collection of articles on Karma, the law of compensation, how it affects our life, our relationships with people, and how it relates to heredity and environment.

T-Pam J897.08 K (PAMPHLET)

Judge, William Q., The Scope of Reincarnation, 1960, 98 pages

Made up from passages taken from Judge's book Ocean of Theosophy, this book presents reincarnation as a universal process beyond all creeds and dogmas, a rational philosophy of rebirth and immortality bringing the reader to an acquaintance with a "whole view" of life.

T J897 SOR

Katsunoff, Robert G., Does the Bible Teach Reincarnation and Karma, [1959?], 51 pages.

Assembles salient data that reveal the presence of the twin doctrine of reincarnation and karma in the Bible and, particularly, in the New Testament, exploring also philosophical related subjects like What is Man, Man's Aim in Life, Evil and Salvation, etc.

T K157 DBT

MacGregor, Geddes, The Christening of Karma: The Secret of Evolution, 1984, 202 p.

A sequel to his book Reincarnation in Christianity, the author provides here a good and substantial evidence that the karmic principle was in the minds of many learned Jews of Biblical times, as well as the concept of evolution.

129.4 Mac COK

MacGregor, Geddes, Reincarnation in Christianity: A New Vision of the Role of Rebirth in Christian Thought, c1978, 185 pages.

An exhaustive critical examination of the subject by analyzing some of the world's greater Christian figures, and presenting philosophical, scientific, and Biblical "for and against" evidence in support of his appraisal.

236.2 Mac RIC

Neufeldt, Ronald W., Karma and Rebirth: Post Classical Developments, c1986, 357 p.

A collection of essays dealing with the Hindu view of karma and rebirth; the Indian, Chinese, Tibetan and Japanese Buddhist treatments of the subject; and the influence of these concepts in the Western world through Theosophy and others movements and disciplines.

129.4 Neu KR

Pryse, James M., Reincarnation in the New Testament, 1965, 92 pages.

A careful examination of certain teachings of Jesus and his immediate followers where the concept of reincarnation seems to be implied, attempting to arrive to a clearer understanding of those and all they import.

T P957 RNT

Reichenbach, Bruce R., The Law of Karma: A Philosophical Study, c1990, 238 p.

Examines in depth the implications of this doctrine and its connection to other significant philosophical concepts like causation, human suffering, justice, fate, freedom, God, the moral law, liberation and immortality.

129.4 Rei LK

Sharma, I. C., Cayce, Karma, & Reincarnation, 1982, 172 p.

Highlights numerous parallels between the Cayce philosophy and the wisdom of India—especially in topics like karma, reincarnation and the practice of meditation—that act as a bridge between the belief systems of East and West.

129.4 Sha CKR

Steiner, Rudolf, A Western Approach to Reincarnation and Karma, c1997, 152 p.

A collection of selected lectures and writings of Steiner's major statements on reincarnation and karma, including subjects like karma and natural disasters, the formation of karmic forces, how karma works between two incarnations of a person, among others.

T St35 WARK

Stevenson, Ian, Children who Remember Previous Lives: A Question of Reincarnation, 1987, 354 pages.

An account of the research on cases suggesting reincarnation conducted by this world-renowned specialist in psychiatry, offering a summary of the way the research was carried out, the most important results, and his conclusions.

129.4 Ste CWR

Stevenson, Ian, Where Reincarnation and Biology Intersect, 1997, 203 pages.

The author has collected over 2,600 reported cases of past-life memories and investigated birthmarks or other physiological manifestations that relate to experiences of the remembered past life.

129.4 Ste WRBI

TenDam, Hans, Exploring Reincarnation, 1990, 433 pages.

A dispassionate survey considering fairly and frankly the range of explanations and evidence for reincarnation gathered through different techniques and assesses, including the esoteric tradition, spontaneous recall, induced regression, etc.

129.4 Ten ER

Sound Recordings

Algeo, John, Reincarnation Explored: Evidence For and Against, CDA 0204

Hodson, Geoffrey, Reincarnation: Fact or Fallacy? CDA 0121

Kunz, Dora, Karma and Human Relations, CDA 0261

Lile, Minor, The Dharma/Karma Nexus: Finding and Following Our Life's Path, AR 5217

Mullin, Glenn H., Perspectives on Reincarnation, AR 4545

Video Recordings

Algeo, John, Reincarnation, The Untrue Fact, VR 0374

Algeo, John, A Voice Raised for Freedom: Karma and Nirvana, the Double Key, VR 0707

Nicholson, Shirley, Karma, Skandhas, and Personality, VR 0875

Shroder, Tom, In Another Life: Reincarnation in America, DVD 0019

Stevenson, Ian, Children Who Claim to Remember Previous Lives, DVD 0023